

Army Still Keeps Silence in Trial of Eight Saboteurs

Elmer Davis Says U. S. Public Would Feel Better if Some News Were Given

Pledge Is Given
Davis Says His Office Will Give Public Possible News

Washington, July 11 (AP)—Army officers prosecuting and defending eight accused Nazi saboteurs in the justice department today, as the secret trial resumed for its fourth day.

But as the men set ashore on east coast beaches from enemy U-boats again faced the commission of generals, there were complaints over the secrecy which has surrounded the first days of the life or death hearing.

Elmer Davis, director of war information, said the public would "feel better" if more news were available from the trial chambers.

Major General Frank R. McCoy, president of the commission, gave scanty details of the trial of the men alleged to have come here from Germany to slow the war effort through violence in production centers.

There were indications that the trial would go far into next week. McCoy's statement said the commission spent most of yesterday's hearing testimony on an F.B.I. agent, and reading documents. There was no indication of their contents.

The trial was strictly an army proceeding. The commission permitted the signal corps to make both still and silent moving pictures of the scene before yesterday's proceedings opened.

Davis, at the press conference, said he tried to have press association reporters admitted but that the army objected on the ground there would be evidence affecting the national security.

Davis said the present arrangements for handling publicity of the trial was not satisfactory either to his office or to the army, but that in the circumstances it was the best that could be devised.

Meanwhile, Davis pledged the new Office of War Information today to "give the people a clear, complete and accurate picture" of the war, and to prevent "conflicting statements which confuse the public mind."

As for his relations with the war and navy departments, Davis told questioners he did not believe a civilian was qualified to determine questions of military security. He added that he had "not found any mood in the services to hold back bad news because it is bad news." His office, he remarked, certainly was "against anything like that."

Davis directed heads of all government departments and agencies to maintain an open-door policy in their relations with the press and radio. The O.W.I. will maintain no censorship of any kind over news stories.

However, all news releases relating significantly to the war effort, involving several different government agencies must be approved by O.W.I., Davis said, as a means of preventing conflict. Speeches, statements, material for newsreels, and materials for radio news will be handled in the same manner.

On the other hand, O.W.I. will make no effort to suppress differences of opinion between high government officials, although it will seek to "harmonize" them if possible. Congressmen likewise are not affected by Davis' regulations, except that O.W.I. will furnish them factual information "if they want it."

Limitation Asked

Adirondacks Group Would End Iron Mining After War Is Finished

New York, July 11 (AP)—A resolution asking the federal government to limit to the war period its use of New York state land at Lake Sanford in the Adirondacks has been adopted by the Association for the Protection of the Adirondacks.

The purpose of the resolution, passed yesterday, is to safeguard the state lands at the end of the war, and not to hinder needed production of iron ore.

An iron mine has been opened at Lake Sanford, the association said, and the government has proposed to construct a railroad from North Creek, N. Y., to Lake Sanford, and lease operations to the Delaware & Hudson Railroad.

City Will Pay $500 Rental for Use of Barmann Park Site

Common Council Adopts Committee's Report on Property; Mayor's Act Criticized

Barmann Park will continue to be used as one of the city's playgrounds under the provisions of an agreement approved by the Common Council at the recessed meeting on Friday evening when the laws and rules committee reported in favor of the city renting the park for $500 a year.

The committee in a lengthy report pointed out that the park at the present time is assessed at $7,000, and that the taxes amounted to $380. This would mean that the city would pay approximately $120 a year rental for the playground plus the loss of $350 in revenue from taxes on the property.

Alderman Paul Black of the Sixth ward, Democratic minority leader, expressed the opinion that the committee had given the matter careful study and had made the best agreement possible with the new owner of the grounds, and that the report should be adopted unanimously by the council.

Alderman Victor Roth of the Twelfth ward pointed out that the matter of leasing Barmann Park had been first brought to the attention of the mayor in May, and that the council should have been informed at the June meeting of the negotiations that were being made, but had fallen through. If that had been done, he said, it might have been possible to have leased the park on even better terms.

Alderman Dorr E. Monroe of the Eighth ward in urging that the report of the committee be approved quoted figures showing the attendance at Barmann Park. He said that for the year 1941 the total attendance at the park had been 55,672, and for the period between June 22 and July 3 of this year the attendance had been 6,700.

Alderman Monroe pointed out that while the park had been leased to the city by the former owner for the sum of a dollar a year it was also true that the former owner had never paid city taxes on the park.

Alderman Renn offered a resolution that the park be leased under the terms set forth in the committee report, which was seconded by Alderman Cornwell, and unanimously adopted by the council.

The committee report in full reads as follows: At the regular monthly meeting of the Common Council of the City of Kingston on July 7, 1942, a communication addressed to the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel from N. LeVan Haver, Esq., attorney for D. A. Mock, referable to the property known as the Barmann Park property in the City of Kingston was read. The President of the Common Council thereupon referred said communication to this Committee for action.

We find that the property known as the Barmann Brewery property which includes Barmann Park was purchased by Mr. Mock in May, 1942, at a foreclosure sale. Mr. Mock held the mortgage which was foreclosed and was forced to purchase the property to protect

Tax Boost Hits Income Added Unit

One Per Cent Increase Almost Doubles Rates and Puts Yield Above Six Billions

Debate Lies Ahead
Weeks of Discussion Are Ahead in Congress for Tax Bill

Washington, July 11 (AP)—An eleven-hour decision to boost the average individual's income taxes another one per cent to almost double the present rates put the yield of the House ways and means committee's new revenue bill above $6,000,000,000 today.

Members worked to finish writing the bill before nightfall. It has been the subject of weeks of hearings and, when completed, will be headed for more weeks of congressional debate.

At an unusual night session last night, the committee adopted a motion to add 1 per cent to the new surtax graduated scale of from 12 per cent on the first $2,000 of personal net income to 81 per cent above $5,000,000. Present rates are from 6 to 77 per cent.

Thus, with a 6 per cent normal tax, compared with the present 4, the committee's new combined rate would be increased from 10 per cent to 19 per cent in the lowest bracket.

By its action, the committee picked up $310,000,000 in additional revenue. But that addition was offset to the extent of $85,000,000 by another vote to retain the personal exemptions in the present law for soldiers and sailors. The committee previously had decided to lower the single person's exemption from $750 to $500 and for married couples from $1,500 to $1,200.

Thursday the committee eliminated a $102,000,000 item to be obtained from increased postal rates on second and third-class mail. Considering all revisions since the committee began reviewing a final copy of its bill last Tuesday, the estimated yield today stood at $6,046,200,000.

But that total included $876,700,000 in post-war refund to corporations, which, if deducted, would leave a net revenue effect of only $5,169,500,000. The treasury had asked the committee to raise $8,700,000,000.

It was reported that Rep. Treadway (R-Mass.), had made the motion to increase the individual surtax rates and coupled with it a proposal to change the single person's income tax exemption from $500 to $600. One member demanded that the two questions be separated and Treadway finally withdrew the latter suggestion.

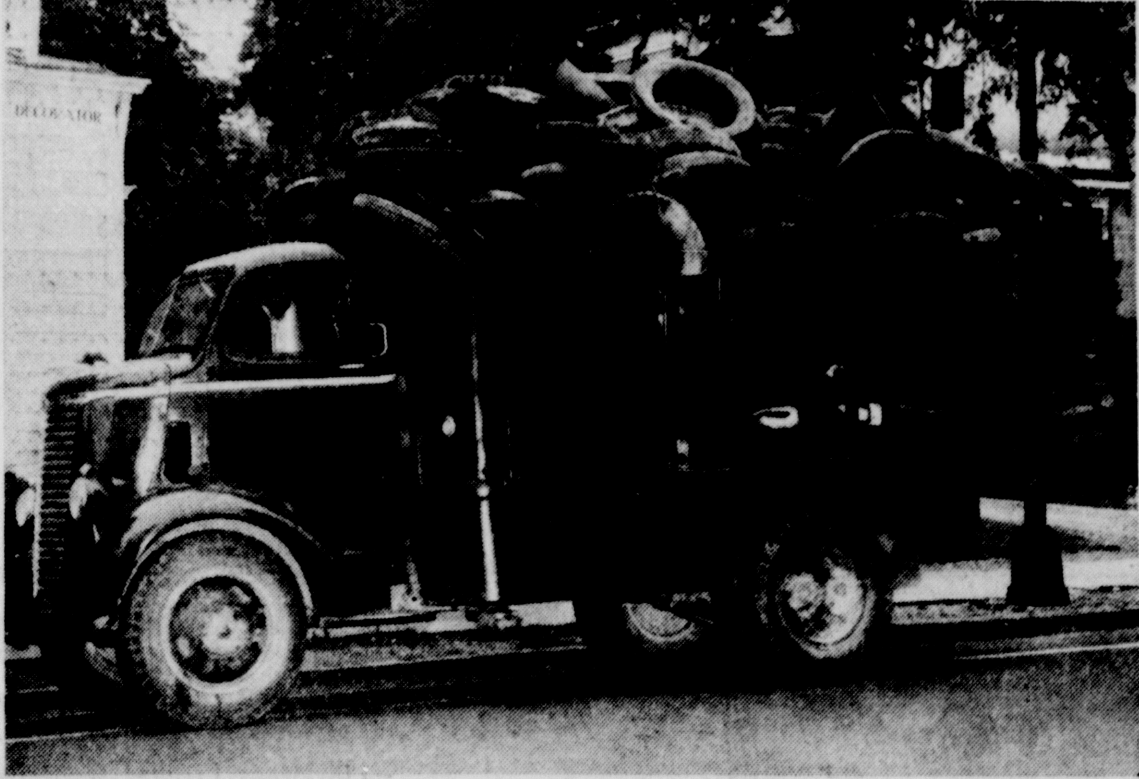

Pullman Wins Increase

New York, July 11 (AP)—The Pullman Company has won the right to increase passenger fares and charges in New York state by 10 per cent. Permission for the increase, which makes New York the 39th state to allow such a change, was granted yesterday by the New York State Public Service Commission. The increase originally was allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to meet rising railroad costs.

Speaker Is Improved

Cleveland, July 11 (AP)—Tris Speaker's condition was "slightly improved" today, doctors at Lakeside Hospital said, although he is still on the danger list. Speaker, one of baseball's greatest players around 25 years ago, was operated on last Wednesday for an intestinal obstruction. He is 54.

Five Tons of Rubber—Almost

The total weight of the load of scrap rubber was 9,915 pounds or 85 pounds less than five tons. The truck and scrap rubber are shown above as photographed on Wall street last Friday afternoon.

Salvage Materials Become Items of Great Value to U. S.

Discarded Goods Can Slap Nazis in Face if Thrown in Correct Direction—U. S. War Effort

By BILL BONI
(Wide World Military Editor)

New York, July 11.—"Salvage," say the posters, "can help win the war. Contribute now."

So you dig. You dig up a discarded pair of overshoes from the back of the hall closet; save faithfully all your tooth paste tubes, and clean and flatten tin cans; make stacks of paper bags, newspapers, shirt card-boards; pitch a leaky saucepan on to the country's growing salvage head.

But then what? What happens to all this stuff? What does that wornout pair of overshoes represent, when converted into military supplies?

How many toothpaste tubes do you have to save to make an impression? If you collect 100 pounds of paper a month, how many shells will that pack?

Is that saucepan going to help slap a Jap, and how? Here's how:

Rubber—Fifty feet of garden hose (even very cracked garden hose) will make raincoats for four soldiers, or a life raft for the navy. Enough rubber can be reclaimed from a single hot water bottle to make two yards of hospital sheeting. Two old inner tubes equal three heavy gas masks.

The giant earthmovers which help build air bases and army camps run on tires that weigh 3,656 pounds. That's why, for each one, 260 automobile tires are not on the civilian market.

One old tire represents enough rubber to make boots for 18 parachute troopers, while 150 would fit out a flying fortress. At least 50 parts of a medium bomber (one of the B-25's that raided Tokyo, say) need the rubber that would go into 1,000 pair of galoshes. The 180 tons of rubber we used to cut up into pencil erasers is ample for 200,000 gas masks.

And the 30,000,000 rubber bands this country used to produce a year ate up enough crude rubber to put bulletproof gasoline tanks into 300 heavy bombers and also make treads, engine mounts, shock-absorbing cushions and machine-gun insulation for 500 tanks.

Scrap iron and steel—That old flat iron will yield enough steel for two helmets or 30 hand grenades. Your garbage pail? One thousand 30-caliber cartridges (and for 111 garbage pails, read one 75 mm. howitzer). That old set of golf clubs rusting down in the cellar for two years represents a 30 caliber machine-gun. If you and nine neighbors each could round up an old kitchen stove, you'd have sufficient steel to furnish the army with a scout car.

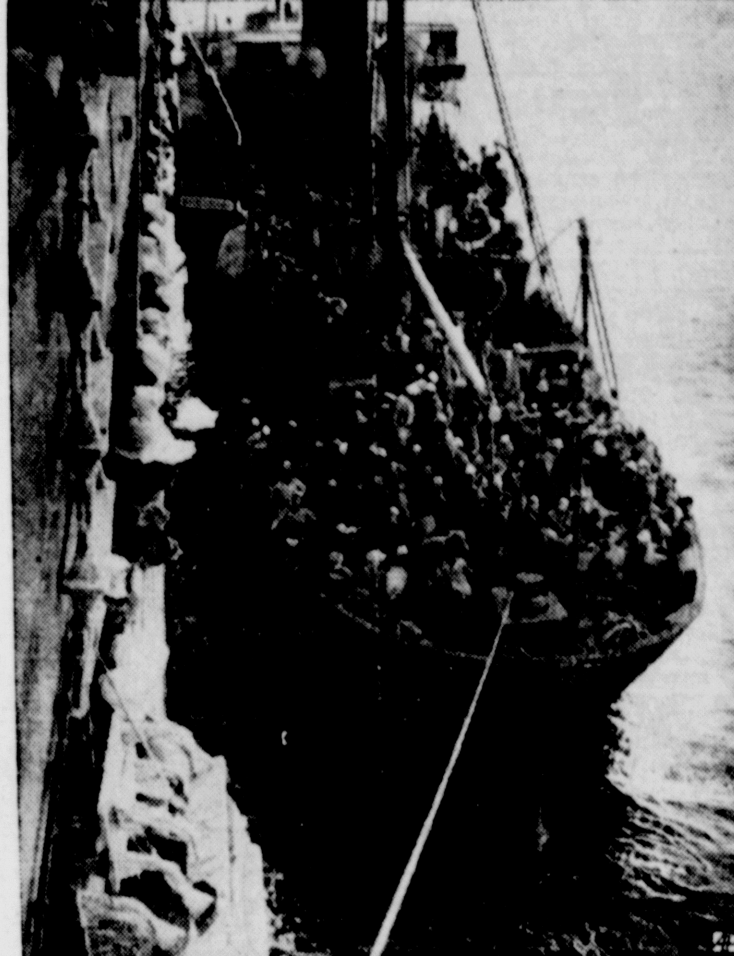

26 Heavy Machineguns
You can't buy a new automobile! Sure you can't—steel for 26 heavy machineguns goes into a single one of them. And in case your refrigerator is getting balky, just remember that if we still were going along with peacetime production of refrigerators, we'd have to get along with 4,000 fewer medium tanks this year.

Tin—there's enough in 70 tooth-paste tubes for the radiator of an army truck. If your family saves the 18 tin cans they ordinarily would throw away in the space of two weeks, you'll save a portable flame-thrower. If you do it for a month, you've got the bushings for three machineguns.

Phonograph records—there's shellac enough in one 12-inch record to waterproof the primers on 50,000 30-caliber cartridges, or to make one military signal flare which some day may direct our

Boatload of Nazi Prisoners

Nazis Say Gains Are More Than 200 Miles Deep; 80 Miles From Stalingrad

Raid Is Greatest

Desert Aerial Attack Is Mightiest Seen in That Quarter

By ROGER D. GREENE
(Associated Press War Editor)

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted today that the German armies smashing toward the Caspian Sea had reached the Don river on a 220-mile front, within 80 miles of Stalingrad at one point, and had inflicted a great "destructive defeat" on the Russians.

The Nazi command claimed an advance in depth of more than 200 miles since Hitler launched his grand offensive from the Kursk-Kharkov sector two weeks ago.

Simultaneously, the violent renewal of the 18-day-old battle of Egypt marked the beginning of one of the most critical week-ends of the war—a phase which might precipitate the opening of an Allied "second front" in western Europe.

At the outset the British apparently gained the upper hand as imperial headquarters reported that Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's armies, reopening the stalemated "bottle-neck," had advanced five miles yesterday in a pre-dawn attack.

As the battle flamed toward a showdown, Allied airmen, presumably including U. S. Army fliers, swept into action today with the mightiest aerial assault ever witnessed in the desert.

Front-line dispatches said a greatly strengthened enemy air force rose to challenge the Allied warplanes and spectacular dog-fights raged high above the battle area. Axis losses were said to be high.

The British announced that they had struck out westward along the railway from Al Alamain, 65 miles west of Alexandria, seizing the initiative to break a 10-day lull in the Egyptian conflict.

"A number of prisoners were taken and other casualties and damage were inflicted upon the enemy," British G.H.Q. said.

At the same time, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis mechanized columns moved eastward in the southern sector of the desert battlefield, a 35-mile-wide stretch between the Mediterranean Sea coast and the desolate salt marshes of the Qattara Depression.

A British communique said Rommel's counter thrust was "engaged by our columns, which destroyed several enemy tanks."

Italian field headquarters also noted the resumption of violent fighting, declared:

"Strong enemy attacks have been clearly repulsed in the center of the front and stopped in the northern (coastal) part, where fighting was particularly acute."

"In the southern sector, Axis troops in a surprise attack have compelled the adversary to make a notable withdrawal."

As the two armies grappled in momentous battle, with the fate of the entire middle east perhaps hanging in the balance, the news from Russia continued grave.

Under assault from five directions, Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's Red armies fell back in stubborn retreat as the Germans captured Rossosh, 100 miles south of Voronezh on the vitally important Moscow-Rostov railway, and pressed simultaneous offensive in the air.

Pilot Is Killed

Army Flier Falls 6,000 Feet After Planes Brush Over Long Island

New York, July 10 (AP)—Lt. Lyman F. Rhodes, 23, of Baton Rouge, La., was killed when his army plane crashed and burned at Islip Terrace, Long Island, after a "brush" with another plane during a tactical training mission yesterday.

Army officials said that Lt. Rhodes fell from a height of 6,000 feet and made no attempt to use his parachute, indicating that he had been knocked out by the collision in the air.

The pilot of the other plane, Capt. Philip Tukey, of Cape Elizabeth, Me., managed to fly his damaged craft 37 miles to Mitchell Field, where he made a safe landing. Tukey is a squadron leader.

An army board of inquiry has been appointed to investigate the cause of the accident.

Roosevelt-Farley Rivalry Highlights State's Gubernatorial Maneuvering

New York, July 11 (AP)—The greatest behind-the-scenes maneuvering in many campaigns has preceded party conventions to pick nominees for the key political plum of this year's elections—the governorship of New York, a post that has been a springboard to the presidency in the past.

The decision of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman not to seek re-election after 10 years in office threw the field wide open.

Republican ranks are split by well-matched forces backing former District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and a group seeking to draft Wendell L. Willkie, despite the latter's expressed disinterest.

Chief developments in the Democratic race, although not yet brought into the open, appears to be a renewal of the political rivalry between President Roosevelt and State Chairman James A. Farley, who directed Mr. Roosevelt's first two campaigns and tried unsuccessfully to keep him from getting a third term nomination.

Farley is backing State Attorney General John J. Bennett, and says he is assured of enough convention delegate votes to gain the nomination.

The President has said he favored a Liberal who had supported his foreign policy 100 per cent before Pearl Harbor.

Farley immediately issued a statement saying that Bennett had these qualifications.

Other Democratic leaders, however, felt that the President might have had in mind Senator James M. Mead of Buffalo, one of his most consistent congressional supporters.

Political grapevines buzzed with reports that the President, while not opposed personally to Bennett, thought Mead a stronger candidate and that the Democrats

Soldier Is Killed

Following Melee In Arizona City

Six Negro Soldiers Grab Machineguns, Other Weapons; Police Gain Final Hand

Flagstaff, Ariz., July 11 (AP)—Six negro soldiers armed with machineguns, automatic rifles and pistols terrorized the business district about 3 a. m. today before one was shot and killed and another wounded. Sheriff Peery Francis reported.

Maj. H. C. Nichols, in command of negro troops on guard duty here, said police shot two of the soldiers and captured the others.

Names of the soldiers were not immediately available.

The sheriff's office reported the soldiers apparently were angered by refusal of admittance of an all-night cafe.

They obtained the arms and began shooting in the street outside the cafe, the sheriff's office said.

Only a few shots were fired, it was understood, and no citizens were injured.

Sheriff's deputies and city police were called. Officers' fire dropped two of the soldiers and the others were seized and taken to jail, Major Nichols said.

Major Nichols said the soldier killed was intoxicated and that all were away without leave from their camp.

Nichols said he was conducting an investigation in co-operation with civil police and that he could not disclose all details of the affair until it was completed.

A coroner's inquest into the death of the soldier was to be held at 10 a. m., at which Nichols and Francis said a complete report would be made by civil officers who subdued the soldiers.

Rommel's armored right wing originally had rested some 35 miles almost due south in the desert, while his left wing lay on the coast. He kept swinging at Auchinleck with that fast-moving armored force, like a prize fighter chopping with his right, hoping to swing the Scotsman back and outflank him—that is, put Auchinleck in the same kind of sack that the latter now is holding open as he punches at Rommel.

Retaliatory Strength

But Auchinleck wasn't having any, and then he began to show a retaliatory strength which indicated that he was beginning to receive badly needed reinforcements, both in men and equipment.

At the same time Rommel's striking power apparently deteriorated because of lack of supplies due to the over-extension of his lines of communication.

Thus we see Auchinleck become the aggressor in a cautious sort of way—just enough to keep the initiative, make things uncomfortable for Rommel and be ready to take advantage of any opening.

Religious Group Scheduled to Go On Pilgrimage

Not far from Kingston are two sites connected with the religious history of our country. Two miles from Marlborough on the old Williams farm, now known as the Amity Rest Home, there stands the Amity Chapel which was moved from New York city to its present location.

It was in this place that the great American religious leader, Walter Rauschenbusch, and his friends gathered each year in a fellowship known as "The Brotherhood of the Kingdom." These men pioneered in thinking through the problem of how to make the spirit of Christ effective in every area of life—such as international relations, capital and labor, social betterment, etc. Many of the ideals which these men, under the leadership of Rauschenbusch, advocated are now accepted standards in American life.

The second point of interest is located near Windham in the Catskills. It was in this section that John Mason Peck, one of the foremost pioneer preachers in the west, was baptized and welcomed into the church. His story is one of courage and sacrifice as he rode day and night, in danger and exposure to the elements, to bring spiritual guidance and inspiration to the settlers in the great west.

Young people of the First Baptist Church are planning to visit Marlborough and Windham, holding vesper services in each place to honor the memory of these religious leaders. These pilgrimages will be held on two successive Sundays, July 12 and 13.

This coming Sunday, July 12, a picnic supper will be held on the site of the Amity Chapel, near Marlborough. Period of informal fellowship will be followed by a vesper service at 6, which will be held in the chapel. The Rev. Arthur S. Cole, former pastor of the First Baptist Church and a personal friend of Walter Rauschenbusch, will give a message on the significance and value of the life of this great leader and the movement with which he was associated.

The Amity Chapel, from route 9-W is one mile south of Marlborough, then right, for approximately one mile to the "Amity Rest Home." Young people of the church will mark the way and serve as guides for those attending. Any coming for supper should bring table service and picnic foods sufficient for their needs.

Religious Radio Programs Sponsored by the Kingston Ministerial Association in cooperation with Radio Station WKNY the following programs are to be presented this coming week:

From the First Reformed Dutch Church, the morning service of worship at 11 a. m. tomorrow (Sunday), with sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Arthur Oudemool. Nazis Claim Great Harm Is Heaped Upon Red Forces

sives against Voronezh, Stary Oskol, Kantemirovka and Lisichansk.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted that 88,689 Russians had been taken prisoner and 1,007 tanks destroyed or captured in fighting west of the Don river from June 28 to July 9 and claimed that "the enemy was destructively beaten."

The Nazi command said Gen. Fedor von Bock's steamroller had reached the Don along a 220-mile front below Voronezh, after a 120-mile break through from the Kharkov-Kursk sector, and had established several bridgeheads across the river.

Soviet dispatches frankly conceded that the Nazi offensive, involving an estimated 1,000,000 troops, was scoring "developing successes" in a series of gigantic battles, but declared the invaders were suffering bitter losses.

Red army headquarters said a single Russian elite guard unit slaughtered 2,500 German officers and men in the fight before Voronezh.

Fall of City Admitted
Acknowledging the fall of Rostov, which meant that the last major rail communication between Russia's central and southern armies had been cut, the Soviet command announced two dangerous new German thrusts far below Voronezh—one striking at Lisichansk, only 140 miles north of the Rostov gateway to the Caucasus oil fields; the other near Kantemirovka, 145 miles south of Voronezh.

While the Germans were apparently turning the main weight of their offensive south toward the Caucasus, a Vichy broadcast said the Russians were pressing a counter-offensive north of Voronezh and had blasted a three-mile breach in Nazi lines. Vichy said the Soviet counter blows were developing to the northwest as far as Orel, key German base, 160 miles from Voronezh and 210 miles below Moscow.

Front-line dispatches said the Red armies were fighting tenaciously along the Don river, 10 miles west of Voronezh, slashing at the enemy flanks and seeking to close breaches in their river positions.

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, declared Russian tank traps and artillery fire were taking a deadly toll of the invaders, but acknowledged that "the area of fighting west of Voronezh is spreading." A Vichy broadcast reported that the Nazis had reached Ellet, 75 miles northwest of Voronezh.

Military analysts said it now was clear that the Germans were seeking a vast breakthrough to the Caspian Sea, hoping to sweep wide across the northern gateway to the Caucasus and thus split Marshal Timoshenko's Ukrainian armies and Lieut.-Gen. D. T. Koslov's Caucasian forces.

The Russians conceded that the invaders were already within 200 miles of the great industrial city of Stalingrad, on the lower Volga, or about halfway to the Caspian. Once that goal has been reached, the Germans could sweep around Soviet-held Rostov without fear of flanking attacks and storm into the Caucasus oil lands en route to the middle east.

The German high command's claim that the Nazis had reached the Don on a 220-mile front below Voronezh would mean that they were within 80 miles of Stalingrad, but there was no confirmation elsewhere.

"The enemy is being relentlessly pursued," Hitler's command said.

New York, July 11 (AP)—Modest advances were fairly well sprinkled over today's stock market but buying reluctance was sufficient to hold many leaders in the rear ranks.

Trends were a bit foggy at the start and, in the final hour, prices were uneven with small fractional variations predominating. Dealings were sluggish throughout.

Speculative and investment timidity was attributed partly to the somewhat gloomier war news from Russia and to the disposition of potential purchasers to limit commitments over the week-end.

Bonds and commodities were narrowly irregular.

Stocks given an occasional lift included U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Standard Oil (N. J.), Westinghouse and Dow Chemical.

Backward were General Motors, Chrysler, General Electric, Sperry, Pennsylvania, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Gypsum and Anaconda.

Schwartz Body Found at Malden

Coroner Lamouree Gives Verdict in Man's Death

The waters of the Hudson river at Malden gave up the body of Louis Schwartz, 50, Abel street butcher who had been missing since Wednesday, shortly after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, when the body was discovered floating in the river about eight feet off shore from the dock.

The body was first seen in the river by William Washburn of Malden, who reported his discovery and Chief Richter of the Saugerties police department was notified and he and Sergeant Mills drove to Malden. The body was brought to shore and Coroner Henry A. Lamouree of Saugerties ordered it removed to the Lasher morgue in Saugerties.

The Kingston police department received word of the finding of the body shortly before 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Later in the day the body was removed to the Kukul Memorial Funeral Home in this city where an autopsy was performed by Dr. J. S. Taylor and Dr. Chester B. Van Gansbeck.

Coroner Lamouree said today that the autopsy disclosed that death was due to drowning. He said he had issued a verdict of suicide by drowning.

Mr. Schwartz, who had operated a butcher shop at 103 Abel street for 20 years, left his home, 39 Montrose avenue, at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and it was thought that he had gone direct to his butcher shop to open it for the day. When he failed to appear at the shop alarm was felt and the police notified.

Authorities believe that he had walked from Saugerties to Malden.

Mr. Schwartz was an active member of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer on Wurts street, a member of the church council and of the Brotherhood of the church. He was always interested in volunteer fireman activities and was a member of the Cornell Hose Co. Fraternally he was a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M. He was a member of Kingston Post of the American Legion.

Ulster May Exceed Rubber Goal by About 25 Tons

Ulster county's goal of 300 tons of salvage rubber was expected to be exceeded by approximately 25 tons, it was announced by those in charge of the drive which has ended.

Friday morning the total at the bulk depots was 297 1/2 tons, and in addition there was a quantity of rubber at the various stations which had not been picked up according to C. A. Cahalen, director of the campaign.

Mr. Cahalen said that figures on July 7 showed that Ulster county ranked third among 28 counties in the eastern New York area. The first shipment of rubber is expected to be made early next week to the Rubber Reserve Corporation at Port Newark, N. J. This will consist of scrap rubber, or all the rubber collected except old tires, which come under a different classification. The tires will be shipped later.

artillery to an enemy-blasting barrage.

Waste paper—that 100-pound stack you put outside the door this morning will be turned into containers for eighty 75-mm. shells, or 35 containers for shipping tinned foods to the army, navy or marines overseas. If you save 20 of those stacks, you'll have contributed to the production of 47,000 boxes for 30-caliber ammunition, or 71,000 dust covers for airplane engines, or 36,000 targets to sharpen our soldiers' aim.

Odds and ends—one old battery out of your car will yield the lead for three 3-inch anti-aircraft guns. There's as much copper in a single six-foot electric cord as there is in 100 37-mm. anti-aircraft shells.

A pursuit plane uses up aluminum equivalent to that in 7,700 pots and pans, while one of those giant, herring-bone-boxes contains enough brass for 750 cartridge cases, enough for five light machine-guns, and 42 pounds of plastics that would do more good in the windows and control panels of army and navy planes.

Four old sheets contain linen to help make the wings, fuselage and ailerons of a military training plane. The silk for more than 100 pairs of silk stockings is needed to turn out just one parachute.

If the new "victory razors" are to be made of zinc and plastics, it's because in 1941 the safety razor industry used 1,662,000 pounds of brass—which would have made 31,578,000 .30-caliber cartridges or 3,947,000 cartridge clips for the Garand rifle.

Next time you're ready to discard something, pick your direction. Even though you may be a DiMaggio, if you throw it in the right direction you may hit a Nazi square in the face.

Oakley is to be questioned further at the sheriff's office regarding his possible connection with the hit-and-run accident earlier Thursday evening in which Mrs. Kate Pratt, 75, was knocked down near her home not far from Midway Garage on Route 209 and sustained a fractured leg and other injuries. Oakley's car went off the road about a mile from the scene of the accident, as he was driving toward his home in Stone Ridge.

USE OF CARS

Recent talk and thought about automobile tires has been very confused. People don't know what to expect, whether business or vacation trips are going to be possible, whether they can drive to the mountains or the sea, to Canada or Mexico, with a reasonable chance of getting home again with the car. They don't know whether the government will take away their tires or not.

This uncertainty must be accepted calmly as "one of those things" caused by the war. The government itself, as the President acknowledges, is uncertain. The situation will clarify somewhat as dependable figures are obtained for the number of good tires and tubes left in use and in storage, the amount of scrap rubber collected in these national drives, the junk yard stores, and so on, and the rate at which factory production of artificial tires and tubes can be speeded up.

Alongside of all these factors must be placed the country's war requirements, which come first. Mars himself runs on rubber.

Is it not the sensible and decent thing now for every car owner to regard his car as a national war asset, which he is entitled to use as long as the government doesn't need it? In this situation should not every good citizen take good care of his car, keeping it in commission to avoid deterioration, but not using it unnecessarily?

HOW SHALL WE EAT?

There is going to be no general food shortage, but there will be notable changes in American eating habits. This statement is made on the authority of Gerrit Vander Hooning, chief consultant of the food branch of the war production board. There will be shortages in particular things, which must be replaced by other things. The public will have to be less "choosy" than usual in buying food supplies. It isn't the grocer's fault, but Hitler's.

Warnings are given of rationing in about 17 items, whose identity will be discovered in due time, if not already known. It may be no secret that canned fish and most canned vegetables are needed for the fighting forces, and blessed is he or she who refrains from going out and trying to grab every can on the harrassed grocer's shelf. There must be sportsmanship about food as there is about other war problems.

Dried or "dehydrated" products will spread more and more over the menu, but they will be much improved and easier to eat than those of the last war. Meat may be somewhat scarcer and higher, but no serious shortage is expected.

TEMPERAMENTAL NATION

It seems to Russell Reeves, an American writer on current events, that this war is bringing out in our people "a mercurial temperament hitherto unsuspected." We rise to peaks of optimism and then sink into pits of depression.

If this is true, the American public might be likened to the mercury rising and falling in a thermometer with every change of temperature. Or to the fabled "Herald Mercury, new lighted on a heaven-kissing hill," when a victory is announced, then plunging down into a bog when defeat comes.

Such instability makes no sense and is not in keeping with present needs. These times demand, above everything else, hardness, toughness, endurance. Only the man or nation "that endureth until the end" shall be saved.

CRISIS

The world today seems to be at the top of its crisis. It is the big test of modern civilization. In some ways this era may be likened to the fourth and fifth centuries, when the Goths and Huns swept down upon the Roman Empire and destroyed it.

But ancient Rome was decadent and already far down in vigor and ideals, when those barbarians assailed it. The modern civilization represented by the free nations of Europe and America is supposed to be at the very apex of modern progress. It has been developing since the Middle Ages, when the Mongol Conqueror Genghis Khan was supreme in Asia.

This civilization has been considered, until lately, as including Germany and Japan, the two nations now foremost in trying to destroy the free powers. But they are now seen as representing a resurgence of barbaric power that attacks the ideals and finest achievements of the free modern nations, and aims to replace them by a regime of brute force.

Their triumph would destroy the souls of men, and the liberties and decencies and high aspirations for which enlightened moderns have fought for many ages. Theirs would be a rule of remorseless power, wielding the forces of nature for selfish and evil purposes. It would be a reversal of civilization and a betrayal of the human soul.

STRANGE FOODS

Peaches, cherries, marching music in four-part rhythm, came into western Europe following the Crusades. The knights and men-at-arms learned to like the fruits of the East. They brought home the seeds and planted them.

Many a Yank learned for the first time to eat an omelet with green herbs in France in the last war. Many a "Frog" for the first time saw doughnuts, and ate them, after the first French hesitation at anything new, with great pleasure.

Now the letters home from Australia tell of the rich cream, too thick to pour, the scrambled eggs on beefsteak, the tendency to serve everything on toast. The Yanks lap up the cream, put down the steaks with eggs and love them. They gain weight, have fun and are delighted with the Australians.

But they miss their salads. The raw green foods, the lightly-cooked vegetables with which American tables are familiar, are missing. So perhaps the Aussies will learn something from the A. E. F. They may come to like the salads, even while they make fun of the Yanks for wanting rabbit fodder.

Not only wounds and waste go with war. Foods and friendship go round the world with it, too.

Pericles, the greatest statesman of ancient Greece, said of one war in which his country was involved: "We choose to die resisting, rather than to live submitting."

"A battle won is a battle we will not acknowledge to be lost"—said Foch.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M. D.

 HIDDEN HUNGER

Some months ago the Canadian Medical Association, with funds provided by insurance companies, published a little book called "Food and Health", a copy of which was to reach every home in Canada. This little book told of food values, the needs of the body for various kinds of food, the cost of an "all round" meal for families of various sizes and other useful information about food and health.

The National Nutrition Program, through the United States Federal Security Agency, includes a motion picture on nutrition entitled "Hidden Hunger". "We all have a job to do these days and part of our share in the nation's wartime effort begins with our choice of foods."

A recent nation-wide survey showed that two out of five of us suffer from hidden hunger—live at half speed, because we only feed parts of our body and let the other parts starve. The body needs 40 different food elements to feed its various cells—some elements to feed muscles, others to feed the brain, others for the cells by which we see, feel and hear. I will not reveal the plot of the film story by which we will all be taught "to use food wisely and thereby stop extravagant waste of our abundant food stuffs and at the same time get ourselves an equal chance for health the way we got ourselves an equal chance to vote."

"If the American people will only buy and cook well balanced meals, those now suffering from hidden hunger (not the hunger coming from an empty stomach but the hunger in a body that has been fed the wrong kind of food) will be brought back to health and efficiency."

What is the amount and the kinds of food a man should eat every day to be hale and hearty? "One egg, one pint of milk (three-fourths to one quart for growing children); two vegetables (green, leafy or yellow) and a potato; an orange or tomato juice and another fruit, three or four slices of the right kind of bread (whole wheat or enriched white); two tablespoons of butter or margarine, and meat."

It can be seen that we all eat the foods mentioned yet two out of five suffer with hidden hunger because we do not eat these foods in the proper proportions.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Many older readers will recall the days when the late A. Wesley Thompson was mayor of the city. I read an old clipping the other day under date of January 2, 1906, in which it was stated that Mayor Thompson had appointed Arthur E. Rose, Daniel Zoller and Thomas J. Diamond as members of the municipal civil service board. Addison D. Pardee was named as secretary of the board.

Another old clipping of that date reminds me that the late Harry Groves assumed his duties as city recorder on January 2, 1906. Judge Groves was a brother of former County Attorney Robert G. Groves, who for a number of years has been active in the councils of the Republican party in Ulster County.

Leaving ahead the city's pages to July 24, 1925, I recall that on that day Herman LaTour, who had rounded out 22 years in the employ of the furniture house of Gregory & Co. embarked in business for himself. Mr. LaTour is still active in the furniture business and also finds time to devote himself to musical affairs in the city.

For years Mr. LaTour has been one of the leading tenor singers of Kingston. He is widely known as a church soloist, and for a number of years he has been a member of the Masonic Quartet of Kingston Lodge, No. 10.

I also recall that in July, 1925, S. Baker & Son closed their variety store on East Strand to devote their entire time to the store they had opened on North Front street. The Strand store for a number of years has been conducted by Abram Alcon as a variety store.

For years one of the leading lawyers of Kingston was the late Judge Amos Van Etten. I recall that on January 7, 1906 he was elected president of the Ulster County Bar Association. Judge Van Etten resided on West Chestnut street, and for years was attorney for the old Ulster & Delaware railroad, and later for the New York Central Lines. He also served for many years as president of the Ulster County Branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

I also recall that in January, 1916, District Attorney Frederick G. Traver, who in later years became county judge, which office he held at the time of his death, and Cleon B. Murray, who later became district attorney of the county, formed a partnership for the practice of law.

Attorney Murray now resides in Ellenville and is still an active member of the Ulster County Bar.

Back of Nation's War Scenes Goes on Much That Cannot Be Told at Present

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 11.—Behind the scenes much goes on that the press cannot tell but most of it at the moment concerns plans for organizing the military effort of the United Nations on a more efficient basis. And much of it concerns an age-old dispute as to whether the civilian or the military point of view shall dominate the domestic side of our war effort—the allocation of materials and the curtailment of civilian supplies.

As to the trend toward a unified command, there is little that can be told at this time. The possibility is that as adverse developments in the theatres of war occur, the movement to reorganize the high command will take on a more serious aspect.

Meanwhile, there is much less secrecy but just as much conjecture as to what happened with respect to the "realignment," as Donald Nelson calls it, of the war production board.

When the executive order was issued last January making Mr. Nelson the head of the war production board, this correspondent called attention at the time to the fact that it was not a one-man set up and that the cry for a one-man control of war production had not been fully answered.

But the difficulty is not with the granting of sufficient authority. The President has been willing to delegate virtually all the power Mr. Nelson could use. Nor has anybody suggested that Mr. Nelson should in any way be supplanted. He is really liked by all groups, and he is conscientiously striving to do a good job.

What is unanswered, however, is the fundamental question of how the authority should be distributed and what the real relationship should be between the civilian and military authorities. On Capitol Hill, where knowledge of the inner struggle has percolated, there is a disposition to hold tight to the civilian side and not allow the military too much leeway. But this is really an academic aspect. The real problem is how to accomplish, even within the war production board, the fulfillment of what might be called the military needs.

The civilian point of view is subject to all sorts of pressures—from labor groups, from industry, from politicians. The army and navy men, on the other hand, see only the paramount task—winning of the war. If someone toes have to be stepped on, if so businesses have to be lost in a shuffle, the military viewpoint that this is just too bad for American boys are dying in parts of the globe and this is time to try to get better as war as guns.

Mr. Nelson is not facing a new problem. It came up in last war. President Wilson so ed it by calling in Bernard Baruch, who ran the war industries board in such a manner that military and civilian viewpoints were given properly balanced consideration. Mr. Baruch fortunately for America, is still available for advice though it far advanced in years to have any administrative position.

It is tragic that Mr. Baruch's advice has not been taken. I have been here regularly ever week helping wherever he could give suggestions and ideas to the younger men who have the administrative responsibility.

All that Mr. Baruch and his associates learned about the problems of production in wartime and the conflicts between military and civilian needs is set forth in books and memoranda. It would be easy for anyone who wanted to benefit by World War experience to follow the Baruch formula.

Why hasn't it been done? Because the President has not insisted upon it and has felt that to select a man and let him try to learn by trial and error is just as good a way as any. But Mr. Nelson is not succeeding, despite his earnest efforts and the vast powers granted him, in solving the basic problems. It may be that before long large plants will war contracts may have to curtail operations because we have been able to overcome the maldistribution of materials.

Sooner or later, Mr. Nelson will have to set up a three-sided organization, consisting of industrial, military and the civilian government personnel in between. Three viewpoints are needed to achieve the desired result. Merely reshuffling of administrative chairs inside the W.P.B., just a nounced, is important but it does not strike at the root of the difficulty and sooner or later the military viewpoint must be given greater weight if we are to win the war on the production front. Obviously the extension of the rule of the common man is the extension of democracy. Equal obviously, this extension presupposes a disabled in the common man, the master races, a similar nonsense. The idea of a state as God, Herr Hitler's idea is a nonsensical concept to Friedrich. But his faith in the rightness of democracy is based on his faith in the intellectual processes of the common man, but on his essential rightness—if an oversimplification of it be allowed.

Dr. Friedrich sees a new concept of responsibility founded in the sense of workmanship in the common man, a concept which turns him naturally toward the expert and provides a natural base for governmental action. He does not believe the common man will out-think the expert, nor as easily; he believes bureaucracy and democracy can be merged into a government "service" made of mutual servants.

He has practical suggestions to make. His readers are fortunate that he can make them in shrewd, clean, adventurous English that is not without humor.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—Many of the important and even vital factors in the anti-inflation and price control ruckus have been obscured by the attacks on Leon Henderson administrator of O.P.A.

Take any day in the House of Representatives or Senate when O.P.A. funds, sugar and gasoline rationing, or any one of half a dozen other things dealing with price control are under consideration, and you will be convinced that it is open season on Henderson.

Not in my day on the Washington scene, and I'll take the word of a lot of old-timers that not any government official has been so consistently blistered from so many sides as Leon Henderson.

There is no better way of citing the attacks and counter-attacks than of quoting Rep. Wright Patman, Democratic representative from Texas, and member of the House banking and currency committee that questioned Henderson for days.

Mr. Patman prefaces his remarks with the declaration that he had never seen or known Henderson before he appeared before the committee. He had only heard of him. "The reports," he says, "were not all good."

"It has been told here, and it has been charged on the floor by a good house, conscientious member," said Patman, "that Henderson was going under an alias."

"It has been told that he was an alien, born in Russia, with a name as long as your arm, the last three letters being s-k-y. . . ."

In that defense of Congressman Patman is just about the whole story of the war on Henderson. On one hand, he has been called everything, on the other hand, he has been praised as a genius striving at least to pull a Dunkirk with the shattered forces fighting inflation.

would have to put their best vote-getter into the field to win. The President, eager to keep unbroken a 20-year record of Democratic victories, has indicated he would reserve the right to dabble in his home state politics, although rigorously abstaining from any part in party feuds in other states.

Meat, although declining to eliminate himself as a possible nominee, has emphasized his chief wish is to avoid party dissunity.

Other potential nominees are Lieut. Gov. Charles Poletti, backed by Governor Lehman, and Oscar Ewing, New York attorney, whose name was advanced by Democratic National Chairman Edward J. Flynn.

Friends of Mead have expressed confidence, however, that when the political scene-shifting is ended, Senator Robert Wagner, Lehman and Flynn will be lined up behind Mead and that a nod from the White House then will rally convention delegates behind the Mead banner.

In the Republican arena, supporters of Dewey, who lost in the 1938 election to Lehman by a narrow margin, claim a majority of delegates to next month's conventions already are pledged to him. Disputing their contention is the "Draft Willkie Committee," headed by Book Publisher Stanley Rinehart, which hopes to stage a coup similar to that at Philadelphia in 1940 when Willkie overcame Dewey's early lead and defeated him for the Republican presidential nomination.

No Republican has dwelt in the governor's mansion in Albany since 1922.

R. H. Kershaw to Train For Army Commission

Robert H. Kershaw, for 12 years connected with the lunch counter at the Whelan Drug Store, having been manager for the latter half of that time, was putting in his last day at the old stand today. "Bob," who joined the 1st Battalion of the 56th Regiment, New York Guard, when it was organized in Kingston about a year ago and is now second lieutenant in Company A, expects to enter the service in a week or ten days. He will undergo a short period of basic training and then be assigned to an officers' training school for a course leading up to a commission as second lieutenant in the army.

Miss Tenie Seyler, who recently returned to Whelan's after an absence of a couple of years, will have charge of the lunch counter.

Bahr Indictment Is Asked by U. S.In Addition to Espionage Conspiracy Writ May Be Handed Up

Newark, N. J., July 11 (AP)—A federal grand jury will be asked to indict Herbert Karl Friedrich Bahr on a charge of violating the espionage law which carries with it the death penalty or imprisonment up to 30 years.

Attorney General Francis Biddle said in Washington yesterday that in addition it was possible that another indictment would be sought under the general conspiracy law against the exchange student accused by Federal Bureau of Investigation of being a Nazi spy. The conspiracy count, which covers unlawful acquisition and use of information affecting national defense, provides imprisonment terms for not more than two years and fines of not more than $10,000.

The 29-year-old American citizen was arraigned yesterday before U. S. Judge William F. Smith in New Jersey district court and held without bail until the grand jury acts on his case when it convenes Tuesday.

The former Buffalo, N. Y., man was seized on the refugee liner Drottningholm where he posed as a Jewish refugee. F. B. I. agents found $7,000 on him, as well as materials for secret inks.

Condition Is Fair

Accused as Spy

Herbert Carl Friedrich Bahr, 29, an American citizen, was seized by F. B. I. agents on charges of violating the espionage law. Bahr was on the Drottningholm when it docked June 30. He was born in Germany and came to the U. S. where he lived at Buffalo for a time. An honor high school student, Bahr was said by F. B. I. agents to have been trained in Germany to return to the U. S. and obtain vital information for the Nazis.

Rockland Sheriff, Two Others Guilty Of Lottery Charge

New City, N. Y., July 11 (AP)—Rockland County Sheriff Edward C. Dormann, Lester Kobb and Albert Kriven, all of Spring Valley, were convicted early today of conducting a lottery.

A jury of nine men and three women brought in the verdict after deliberating 16 hours and 10 minutes.

The defendants were found guilty on nine felony counts and one misdemeanor count. Each faces a possible prison sentence of 38 years.

The jury began deliberating at 2 p. m. yesterday in Rockland county court after hearing 15 days of testimony in which it was said that Dormann was top man in the alleged policy racket. It was brought out during the trial that the enterprise had a short and not-very-lucrative life, its biggest day's net being less than $350.

Howard Locke of Nyack and Charles Munday of Spring Valley, both garage men, pleaded guilty to the charges and testified for the state.

Tests have shown that little relation exists between intelligence and skill in driving an automobile.

Little Joan had been instructed at school what to do during an air raid. A day or two later she heard fire engines clanging past her home and decided it was the signal of an air raid. Hurriedly she scrambled under a table and began to take off her clothes. When the amazed family asked the reason, Joan replied: "Joan—Our teacher told us that when we heard the signal we should get under a table and keep cool."

Seven World War Generals Advance

Acts of Congress, 24 Years Required to Promote U. S. Leaders

Washington, July 11 (AP)—It took 24 years and two acts of Congress to turn the trick, but seven generals at last were eligible today for promotions which were recommended back in the World War.

Listed for advancement in 1918, the officers found the war over before it came. In the score of peacetime years that followed, a disarming nation failed to act on the recommendations.

Then, on June 13, 1940, Congress passed a bill which provided for just such promotions—but for some reason, it was only for those officers "below the grade of brigadier general."

A second bill, signed by President Roosevelt yesterday, struck out the words and made the seven eligible for advancement. Their average age is 71 and their belated promotions to one rank higher involve no pay increase. All are on the retired list.

Following are their names and why each won the U. S. Army's Distinguished Service Medal—the decoration which brought recommendation 24 years ago, and tardy promotion today.

Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, for commanding the 2nd Division during an attack on Soissons, France, July 18, 1918.

Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Castner, for commanding a brigade which "routed the enemy" at St. Mihiel.

Brig. Gen. Harley B. Ferguson, for "meritorious services" as chief engineer of the 2nd Army Corps and later of the 2nd Army.

Brig. Gen. William P. Jackson, for "meritorious services" as commander of the 74th Infantry Brigade.

Brig. Gen. George H. Jamerson, as commander of the 139th Infantry Brigade during the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Brig. Gen. Julian R. Lindsey, for a successful attack in the Argonne Forest.

Brig. Gen. Paul A. Wolf, as commander of the 66th Brigade of the 33rd Division throughout the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Driver Fined $50 For Operating Car While Intoxicated

Ran Shaffer, 29, of 142 West Seneca street, Oswego, charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated at 12:55 o'clock this morning, pleaded guilty when he was arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court later in the morning, and was fined $50 and his operator's license revoked.

Shaffer was arrested by Officers Hyatt and McDonough after his car had struck the parked automobile of A. Theodore Young, bookkeeper for A. Carr and Son of Pearl street.

It was early this morning that the police department received a telephone call from Mr. Young that a drunken driver had struck his car while it was parked on Sterling street, near Henry street.

Mr. Young reported that after the car had struck his car it had backed out of the street into Henry street and had driven on. The police found the offending car on Franklin street.

Mrs. Shaffer, who was riding with her husband, suffered injuries to her knee and forehead.

Mrs. Kathryn B. Hays of this city, charged with parking in the restricted area on Crown street on Friday, was discharged after a hearing in court today.

Army Gives Awards For Midway Heroism

Honolulu, July 11 (AP)—The first army awards for heroism in the battle of Midway were announced yesterday by Lieut. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, who listed 28 officers and men to receive the Distinguished Service Cross at the direction of President Roosevelt.

Some of the awards are posthumous. All of those honored were members of crews participating in the first torpedo bomber attack ever carried out by the United States army.

Capt. James C. Collins of Meridian, Miss., commander of the flight, was cited "for extraordinary heroism in action near Midway June 4" in attacking a large Japanese naval force successfully despite strong enemy fighter attacks and heavy anti-aircraft fire.

"Captain Collins sought out a large enemy aircraft carrier, protected on all sides by a gunfire of all types from enemy battleships, cruisers and destroyers," and "carried out his most hazardous mission under the most adverse conditions."

Others awarded the D.S.C. included: Staff Sgt. John J. Gogoj, Belterose, Long Island, N. Y., aerial engineer and gunner, who fought off "enemy fighters and although he incurred painful head wounds continued to operate his gun until free of enemy opposition."

Corp. Frank L. Melo, Astoria, Long Island, N. Y., and Private Earl D. Ashley, Williamston, S. C., were two other gunners who kept their guns firing despite wounds.

To Make Airplane Parts From Plastic Plywood

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Production of airplane parts from plastic bonded plywood soon will be added to the vital wartime work of H. J. Heinz Co., it was announced today by H. J. Heinz, L.L., president.

"Because our company believes that hastening victory is the first job of all industry, we long ago offered to the government the adaptable facilities of our factories extending from coast to coast," Mr. Heinz said, "for in addition to producing major quantities of specially prepared rations for the United Nations' armed forces and the 57 varieties for civilian consumption, we wished to make a direct contribution to the country's military effort."

"A thorough study of our factories revealed that some of their equipment was adaptable immediately to specialized work—particularly the manufacture of plywood aircraft parts. Specific details of the project cannot, of course, be disclosed because they are military secrets, but large scale production soon will be realized. One of the company's machine shops already is operating nearly 100 per cent on sub-contracts to assist in the output of war materials."
